“How to Draw Mickey Mouse” Worksheet

Adapted from <http://www.easydrawingtutorials.com>

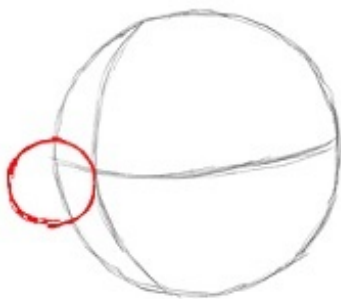

Everyone can master America’s favorite mouse by following these simple directions. Use the worksheet below along with a pencil, eraser and unlined paper to make your own memorable mouse. Make sure to use a pencil for the initial stages because there are lines that you will want to erase at the end.

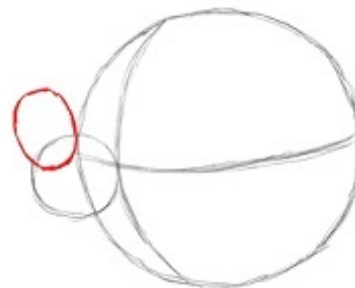

1. Start with a simple circle. Leave space on the right side of the page for his big ears.

2. Draw two lines that cross and follow the contour of the sphere that will be his head. Put the center of the circle to the left because Mickey will be slightly turned.

3. Draw the circle of Mickey’s nose starting at the intersection of the two lines you just drew. Have the majority of the circle hanging below the intersection where the nose originates.

4. Mickey’s snout will sit on top of the circular nose and protrude slightly to the left. The bottom right corner of the oval should kiss the intersection of the horizontal line across Mickey’s face and the outside of the circle that is his head.

5. Draw Mickey's two ears, they should be equal in size. The base of the lower one should be centered at the intersection of the horizontal line across Mickey's head on the right side.

6. To outline Mickey's face, draw a series of arcs. You can think about it like a number "3", draw a diagonal "3" stretching from the intersection of the vertical line and the top of the head, touching the horizontal line and ending at the bottom right of the head.

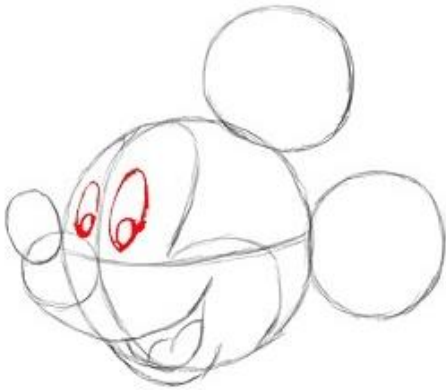

7. The basics of the mouth are going to be drawn in more arcs. The first will originate at the bottom of his nose and extend in a "U"-shape to the center of the lower part of the "3". The next arc will sit below it.

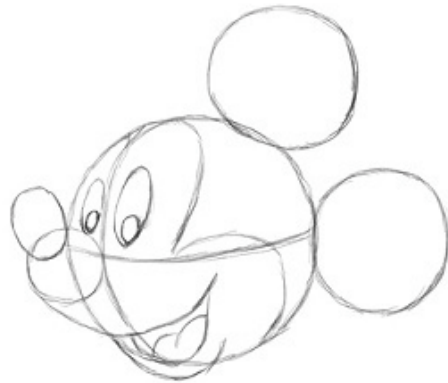

8. The inside of Mickey's mouth will consist of another arc drawn between the two arcs you have just completed and a tongue.

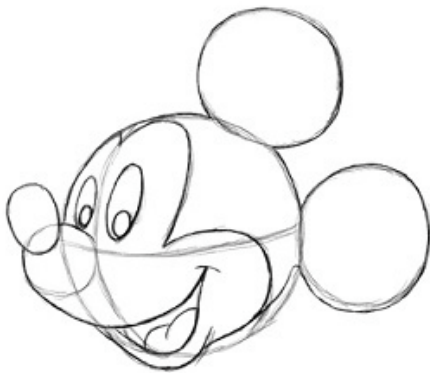

RESOURCES

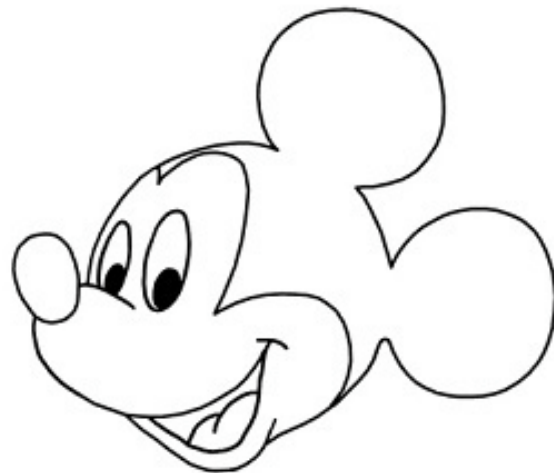

9. Draw Mickey's eyes with two ovals close to the vertical line going down his face. The left eye should be drawn smaller. Next draw the pupils in the bottoms.

10. You have now completed the basic sketch of the Mickey Mouse head.

11. Darken the lines that are not going to be erased, see the sketch above for guidelines. Erase the lines that you haven't darkened and you are done!
